

VIJAY THADANI

CEO AND CO-FOUNDER, NIIT

IHAVE two resolutions for 2011. I sincerely want to reduce the school goers' burden and make their bags lighter by a tenth. Our school solutions division, NIIT eguru, which works with 15,000 schools, could help children carry tablets instead of books, and we can achieve this through customised offerings. My second resolution is to reach out to 20 million more learners this year and take the count to 50 million as NIIT turns 30 this year. Cutting across verticals, from corporates, schools, colleges, individuals and the government, I want to double the target which took the company three decades to cover.
